TWENTY20

POWERED BY OMNIPixel2TM

» To be honest the old CMOS helmet cameras never impressed any professional photographers. But the new and improved Twenty20 helmet camera, powered by OmniPixel2TM, claims to be able to rival CCD helmet cameras in quality while maintaining advantages in size. New Technique dramatically improves the amount of light captured by each pixel, resulting in greater color contrast and improved response through light and dark transitions. Check it out at www.twenty20camera.com »
